

Starting a New Business:

A Step by Step Guide to Starting or Expanding your Business in Berlin

City of Berlin
Department of Planning & Development
108 N. Capron St.
Berlin, WI 54923
PH: 920-361-5156
FAX: 920-361-5405

START

Contact the City of Berlin Zoning Office at (920) 361-5156 or visit City Hall at 108 N. Capron St. to confirm the project conforms with city zoning codes and discuss next steps.

Contact the City of Berlin Inspection Services Division at (920) 210-6351 or after discussing the project with Zoning Office to ensure project conforms with state building codes and discuss next steps.

Staff will advise on next steps that may be necessary if the project is feasible.

Starting a Business in an Existing Building? Begin Here:

Step 1:

Call Zoning Office to confirm the proposed use of your building is compliant with the zoning code.

Zoning Office:

Phone: (920) 361-5156
Fax: (920) 361-5405
City Hall 108 N. Capron St.(Second Floor)
Berlin, WI 54923
www.cityofberlin.net/zoning-building-inspection/

Other Zoning Services responsibilities:

- Any new signage or additions to existing signage will require a review/permit. The Zoning Office can review the sign's copy, placement, and size. Once zoning is approved a sign permit will be issued by Inspection Services, which will verify that the structure is being built to code, and if necessary, installed by a licensed contractor.
- The Zoning Office can also assist in questions pertaining irregular programs available from state and federal agencies to assist with development.

Planning and Zoning Services provides planning services to the community, dealing with activities such as zoning and subdivision regulations, land use planning, economic development, historic preservation and housing programming.

Zoning is the division of land into districts. These districts have uniform zoning regulations including those on land use, height, setbacks, lot size, density, coverage, and floor area ratio. Zoning and its regulations help ensure a city will grow and change in a managed, predictable way, to help safeguard the health, safety, and welfare of a city. You must have the appropriate zoning before you may build on your land.

Please call Inspection Services to see if a building plan is code compliant and if a building plan is required prior to obtaining permits.

Permit Inspections:

- Building, Electrical, Plumbing, and HVAC permits are required when making alterations to your building.
- These permits can be obtained, reviewed, and issued by the Inspection Services.
- If you are renting a space you will need the property owner's signature in order to obtain any permits. The property owner must physically come into City Hall and sign the permit.
- Permit applications can be found here and sent in by mail or fax:
www.cityofberlin.net/zoning-building-inspection/#inspection-forms-requests (City Website → City Hall → Building Inspection and Zoning → Inspection Forms and Requests).
- Please note the permit fees which can be reviewed here:
www.cityofberlin.net/zoning-building-inspection/#Fee-Schedule (City Website → City Hall → Building Inspection and Zoning → IFee Schedule). Please call to confirm permit fee amount.
- Scheduled inspections are required during various phases of your construction project. Required inspections can be found here:
http://www.ci.oshkosh.wi.us/Community_Development/Inspection_Services/assets/pdf/Required_Inspections-Commercial.pdf (City Website → Inspection Services Division → Permits/Forms → Applications and Forms → Required Inspections for Commercial Projects).
- Inspections can be scheduled by calling the inspection 920-210-6351

Step 3:

- Please refer to pages 9 and 10 for other required steps for other City of Berlin department requirements.

Starting a Business in an Existing Building that Requires a Conditional Use Permit

Start with steps 1 through 3 that are found on page 3 and 4 before obtaining your Conditional Use Permit.

What is a Conditional Use Permit (CUP)?

- Each of the City's zoning districts includes a specific list of conditional uses that are permitted only through the issuance of a conditional use permit granted by the Common Council. Conditional uses are those uses that are unique or may have an unusual impact in their location or operation that requires in depth review of their location, design, configuration, and operation.
- The CUP require a public hearing and notifying neighbors, the process is about two and half month process.

What next?

- Contact Zoning Office to discuss interest in a CUP (920) 361-5156. Staff will then schedule an appointment with you to discuss ordinance requirements, the request's conformity with the Comprehensive Plan, Official Maps and potential concerns regarding the proposed use.

Starting a Business on a Vacant Lot OR Expanding an Existing Business

Start with steps 1 through 3 that are found on page 3 and 4 before proceeding with the Site Plan Review process.

What is Site Plan Review?

- The Site Plan Review process is required for every commercial, industrial, institutional, and multi-family (three or more units) projects in the City prior to issuance of a building permit or developmental activity. The Site Plan Review requirement applies to first-time development of property as well as for additions and expansions to existing developments.

State approved plans may be required for any development except for single or two family developments.

What next?

- Contact the Zoning Office (920) 361-5156 Staff will then schedule a pre-submittal meeting with you.
