

Parent-feared juvenile Whooping Crane 80-19 gets to know wild-hatched yearling W3-18 in Indiana.

ECO TOUR: INTERNATIONAL CRANE FOUNDATION AND ALDO LEOPOLD CENTER

Located in Baraboo amid the farmlands of southern Wisconsin, the International Crane Foundation's headquarters are just ten minutes from the Wisconsin Dells and surrounding Baraboo Hills. Visitors to our site may enjoy a guided tour of the world's cranes, take a hike on our nature trails, and browse nature-themed items in our gift shop.

Conserving all 15 species of cranes requires commitment to the people and places essential to cranes. The ICF has dramatically grown in reach and impact since its inception, while developing our capacity to address the health of landscapes that sustain cranes, people and a wealth of biological diversity.

*Sandhill Cranes, United States
Photo by John Ford*

$64

Schedule:

Walmart	7am	Aldo Leopold Center	1pm
ICF	9am	Back in Berlin	5pm
Buffalo Phil's	12pm

Built to meet the highest standards in resource-efficient or "green" design and construction, the Leopold Center upholds Leopold's concept of a land ethic: people should live on the land not only to their benefit, but to benefit the soil, water, plants, and animals that make up "the land," as well. Certified as "carbon neutral" by LEED, its annual operations produce no net gain in carbon dioxide emissions and is a net zero energy building, meeting all of its energy needs on site.

